New Release!

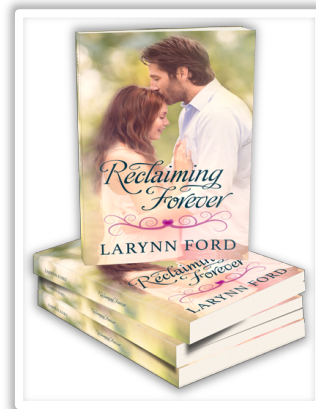

I stepped outside the paranormal world for a bit with a contemporary novella. Here's my beautiful cover and the blurb.

Lara Simons is living her dream—a husband, two button-nosed daughters, and a cozy home. But when Doug Simons unintentionally reveals his secret life, she's forced to move on, building a life for her children with spunk and grit to spare.

A chance meeting with an old flame ignites her sleeping desire for Lance Becker and offers a happy-ever-after do-over. But can she trust again?

Lance regrets his actions of ten years ago that drove them apart. Lonely years spent building his business from the ground up, being strong for his mother and younger brother, and maintaining the family farm.

Lara still owns his heart but can he convince her this time it is forever?
